

IZKF Graduate Program for Experimental Medicine

UniversitätsTumorCentrum Jena
Institute of Pathology, UHJ

In cooperation with:

- Leibniz Institute for Age Research (Fritz Lipmann Institute)
- Leibniz Institute for Natural Products and Infection Biology Jena (Hans-Knöll-Institute)

6th POSTGRADUATE SYMPOSIUM

on
Cancer Research

Saturday, April 26, 2014
Altes Schloss Dornburg (Kaisersaal)

6th Postgraduate Symposium on Cancer Research

Saturday, April 26th, 2014, 9 a.m., Altes Schloss Dornburg

Abstract submission:

Deadline: January 31th, 2014

Format

- English
- MS-Word format, arial 9 pt
- title (not more than 10 words), author(s), affiliation(s)
- graduate student as first and presenting author
- text structured into aims, methods, results and conclusions, maximal 250 words
- standard abbreviations allowed, unusual abbreviations need to be explained
- indicate the preferred presentation type (poster or oral presentation (10 min plus 5 min discussion))
- indicate whether you want to apply for the best oral or poster award

Submission per email: izkfonkologie@med.uni-jena.de

Abstract example:

A p53 target gene DSC3 suppresses tumor growth and is frequently silenced by hypermethylation in human lung cancer

T. Cui, Y. Chen, L. Yang, T. Knösel, K. Zöller, and I. Petersen

Institute of Pathology, University Hospital Jena

Aims: To analyse the DSC3 expression....

Methods: Expression of DSC3 was analyzed by real time RT-PCR

Results: In a majority of lung cancer cell lines, mRNA expression of DSC3 was downregulated.

Conclusions: Gene silencing of DSC3 could be explained by DNA hypermethylation.

Email address: max.musterfrau@email-provider.de

Preferred presentation type: oral poster

I want to apply for the best oral or poster award yes no

Registration:

- izkfonkologie@med.uni-jena.de
- indicate name and affiliation including email address
- maximal 100 participants due to limited room capacity
- participants are accepted on a "first come, first served basis", active participants are preferred
- no registration fee

The symposium's language is English. The final decision on the presentation type will be made by the organizing committee. Participants will be informed on the type of her/his presentation by March 25, 2014. The program of the symposium will be distributed in early April 2014.